

Versatility

Many people prefer to invest in free-standing furniture. Whilst this does not suit everyone, there are some distinct advantages over the fully fitted kitchen. Our versatile range of cupboards can be re-positioned, repainted, used elsewhere around the house and taken with you if you move.

Function with Style

We build individual and combinations of pieces to meet your needs and our key design principle is to combine function with timeless style. Our furniture is elegantly proportioned with clean and simple lines. Ergonomically, it is built to maximise storage room but minimise the space that it occupies and our designs help to avoid our customers having to bend and stretch to reach deep recesses or hidden corners.

Construction

All pieces are hand-built to last with an immensely strong solid wooden frame. Side and back pannels are of tongue & groove. Doors have wooden frames and furnished with brass, ceramic or wooden door knobs. All pieces are hand-painted inside and out to the highest standard using Farrow & Ball 's traditional range of paints (unless otherwise requested). If preferred, we will supply pieces primed - to be top coated by the customer.

Something Different?

Our set pieces are built to order and supplied in the colour scheme of your choice; however, we will always try to accommodate individual requirements. Provided requests are practicable, we are happy to discuss customised dimension and variations to set designs and other bespoke work. Customers who choose this service will be provided with plans and scale drawings to approve before an order is accepted.

Set Pieces
